

March 12, 2009

TO OUR INTERNATIONAL FAMILIES:

We would always prefer that campers coming by plane arrive at the Portland, Maine, airport because of its proximity and, therefore, the simplified logistics in delivering them safely to camp. We realize, however, that many of you find that it is difficult to arrange a connection to Portland and more convenient to fly into the Boston airport. For those of you who find this necessary we will provide a van service with a counselor on Thursday afternoon, June 25, to pick up Wohelo campers arriving at Logan Airport between 2 pm and 6 pm and deliver them to camp. We will also provide that same service on Sunday, July 19, at half session, to deliver campers going home from Boston and to pick up campers arriving for the second session and again on Thursday, August 13 for campers leaving at the end of the summer. The cost of that service will be split among the campers utilizing it. Although we don't know at this time the exact cost for this year, last year the fee was $125 per camper each way.

If your daughter is not arriving on the above dates, or if you would prefer, you may contact Mermaid Transportation of Portland, Maine, (phone number: 207-885-5630) to arrange a private charter to have her picked up in Boston and delivered directly to Camp Wohelo. Payment in that case would be made directly to Mermaid. Contact them for cost of that service.

Please let us know as soon as possible of your travel plans so that we can coordinate our pick-up trip with as many arrivals as possible.

Thank you for your assistance.

Mark Van Winkle